Dear All Little Learner Families,

I am very regretful to have to send you this letter tonight. I am extremely sorry about the closing situation today.

We are involved in a DFS investigation regarding an allegation made about a possible incident at LL. It is their belief that we should not conduct business until the investigation makes a finding. I think they are trying to be extra cautious which is understandable.

I am working diligently to re-open as soon as possible. I am looking at all options possible and providing a good foundation for why we should not be temporarily closed and that the center is being run with the utmost integrity and safety.

I hope to have the matter resolved as soon as possible so we can provide care to all of you as this is a big inconvenience for all of our families. I am holding out faith that all of you will put your good faith in us and support us through this tough time. We have been in business for almost 23 years and built a wonderful reputation with thousands of families over the years. Please hang in there and I will continue to update you as any progress or future decisions are made from the office in Jeff City.

Some of you have asked questions about billing/refunds and such. I know we will owe you a refund for tuition on 7/18 and 7/19 and possibly some summer camp activity fee refunds as well but I can't make that complete determination until I see how this unfolds. Once I know when we will reopen, I will be able to determine, calculate and devise a plan for getting those refunds to you.

I hope this letter helps you understand what is going on and that we are doing everything in our power to get back up and running. You will receive more correspondence via email as information becomes available. Also, how very sorry we are to cause you concern and inconvenience.

Sincerely,

Little Learner
